

Sustainable Value Management

Through the investment of six major resources (finance, manufacturing, intelligence, manpower, nature, and society), CTCI not only creates maximum operating profit and shareholder value, but also drives the sustainable management mechanism within the organization. We pursue the spirit of continuous improvement, which allows us maximize output value and benefits, and effectively create tangible economic, environmental, and social values. In terms of sustainable management promotion within the organization, we have identified seven organizational capabilities as basis for improving the organization's triple bottom lines (sustainable performance), which are: corporate ethics, procurement management, human resources management, innovative engineering management, customer relationship management, health, safety, and environment (HSE) management, and communication with stakeholders. We create sustainable value for both the industry and the public, seek to expand the level of our influence, so that the society and enterprises can jointly move towards a brighter and more sustainable future.
